UNDERSTANDING HOW TO USE HOT & COLD THERAPY CORRECTLY

FOLLOW THE RICE PRINCIPLE

R.I.C.E. stands for Rest, Ice, Compression, Elevation.

It is a method of self-care to use right after you experience a minor injury.

REST is essential for the healing of injured tissue. Without rest; movement and weight bearing can continue to aggravate an injury, causing increased swelling and inflammation. It is best to rest the injured area for 48 hours, or avoid putting unnecessary stress on it.

ICE is useful for reducing pain and inflammation associated with an acute injury. Icing is believed to be most effective if done during the first few hours after the injury has occurred. Follow ThermX Instant Ice on-pack instruction for best results.

COMPRESSION of an injured joint helps to reduce swelling. Be sure not to apply a compression too tightly, as this can interfere with your blood circulation. If you feel throbbing, the compression is too tight.

ELEVATE the injured part of the body above heart level. You can lie down and use a pillow to help elevate the injured limb. If there is little to no relief from pain and swelling after 48 hours, it is recommended to visit your healthcare provider.
